PURE TEA—IN SEALED PACKAGES,
Direct from China and Japan.
DELIVERED at YOUR OWN DOOR, fresh from the GARDENS of their GROWTH.
Imported direct by
THE WELLS TEA CO.,
201 Fulton Street, N. Y.

The difficulty of getting pure Teas of really fine quality in the United States, has induced THE WELLS TEA CO., to ship their Teas in sealed packages direct from the gardens in which they are grown, and as a further guarantee of their being delivered in their genuine state, they entrust the sale of them only to reliable Agents—the name of the nearest Agent to you is printed at the foot of this advertisement—so that they can pass through none but responsible hands, and will be delivered at your own door as fresh as when they left the gardens of China and Japan; the price also is printed on each package, so that no error can occur.
Every body buys Tea.
Every body wishes to buy it at first hands—the best quality at the lowest prices.
Every body desires—when they find a Tea suitable to their tastes—to be certain of getting the same article always.
You can have all these advantages by buying of
THE WELLS TEA COMPANY.
Because they import their own teas, and sell them at wholesale prices—without the six or eight intermediate profits usually charged.
Because the quality is better at the price than is sold by any other house.
Because their long experience in China and Japan enables them to make better selections than ordinary dealers—and to import them with greater advantages
Because they absolutely guarantee the quality of all their goods—and keep them to one invariable standard, so that you can always rely on them.
Because they do business for cash only—and therefore make to extra profit from good customers to cover losses by bad debts.
Because their agents are responsible and reliable men—who deliver Teas precisely as received from the Company.
Because having once tried these Teas, you will not need to go elsewhere nereafter.
WANTED—A Druggist, or other first-class merchant, in every town and city in the United States, to whom will be given the SOLE AGENCY for that locality.
Address, for terms and full particulars,
THE WELLS TEA CO.,

Rules of Nomination.

As Adopted by the Convention, Dec. 26, 1870.

I. The annual County Convention shall be held at the Court House in Bloomsburg, on the Second Tuesday of August, at one o'clock p. m., and the Delegate Elections shall be held on the Saturday before, at the places of holding the general elections in the several election districts, between the hours of three and seven o'clock in the afternoon.

II. The representation of districts in County Convention shall be in proportion to the Democratic vote of each as cast at the most recent election for Governor, but the whole number of delegates shall not exceed seventy nor be less than fifty-four, and no district shall be allowed less than two nor more than four delegates.

III. Until the next election for Governor delegates shall be allowed to districts upon a ratio of sixty voters for a delegate, allowance being made for the largest fractions of a ratio.

IV. The Standing Committee shall, whenever necessary, make an apportionment of delegates to the several districts under these rules and publish it, with the rules as amended, in the democratic newspapers of the County, at least two weeks before each annual convention.

V. Voters at Delegate Elections may give their votes to a smaller number of candidates than the whole number to be elected, in the manner provided in the fourth section of the Bloomsburg act of 4th of March, 1876.

VI. The delegate elections shall be by ballot and shall be held and conducted by a Judge and clerk, to be selected by the Democrats in attendance, and the said officers shall keep a list of voters and tally of votes counted, to be sent by them to the Convention with their certificate of the result of the election.

VII. All cases of disputed seats in Convention shall be disposed of openly by a vote after hearing the respective claimants and their evidence.

VIII. All delegates must reside in the districts they represent. In case of an absent delegate he may depute another, if he fail to do so his colleagues in attendance may substitute for him. In other cases the Convention may fill up the representation from the citizens of the district in attendance.

IX. The voting in conventions shall be open, and any two members may require the yeas and nays on any question pending.

X. Special Conventions may be called when necessary, by the Standing Committee, the proceedings of which shall conform to these rules.

XI. All county nominations and all appointments of conferees and of delegates to State Conventions, shall be made in County Conventions.

XII. The Standing Committee shall consist of one member from each election district, who shall be elected by the people at the delegate elections, who shall choose their own Chairman; and any five of them shall be a quorum, when called together by the Chairman.

XIII. No member of the Legislature shall be chosen by this County as a Delegate to a State Convention during his term of office.

XIV. In Convention a majority of all the votes given shall be necessary to a nomination, and no person named shall be peremptorily struck from the list of candidates until after the fourth vote, when the lowest name shall be struck off and so on at each successive vote until a nomination shall be effected.

XV. [Delegates instructed by the voters who select them shall obey their instructions in Convention, and votes given by them in violation of their instructions shall be disallowed by the Convention All instructions shall be reported by the election officers.] This rule is repealed and supplied by rule XXII.

XVI. Conventions shall be called to order by the Chairman of the Standing Committee, or in his absence by some other member thereof, who shall entertain and put to vote motions for the election of a President and two secretaries for purposes of temporary organization.

XVII. No person shall be eligible to a nomination by a Convention who was opposed the Democratic ticket at the next preceding election; but this rule shall apply only to cases of opposition to tickets hereafter formed.

XVIII. It shall be a good cause of challenge against any person offering to vote at any delegate election that he has voted against Democratic candidates at Federal or state elections within two years, or has opposed the Democratic ticket at the last preceding election, or has taken or agreed to take money or other valuable thing, or any pecuniary advantage, as a consideration for his vote at such delegate election, or corrupting or attempted to corrupt any voter of the district with reference to the same; but this rule shall apply only to causes of challenge arising subsequent to its adoption.

XIX. If it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of a majority of a convention that any candidate before it for nomination to any office shall have offered or paid any money or valuable thing, or made any promise of money or valuable thing to take effect in future, as an inducement to any delegate to vote for him; or to any other person with the view of inducing or securing the votes of delegates; or if the same shall be done by any other person with the knowledge and approbation of such candidate, the name of such candidate shall be immediately struck from the list of candidates; or if such fact be ascertained after his nomination to any office and before the final adjournment, the nomination shall be struck from the ticket and the vacancy supplied by a new nomination; and in either case such person shall be ineligible to any nomination by a Convention, or to election as a delegate, for a period of two years

XX. If any delegate shall receive any money or other valuable thing, or accept the promise of money or other valuable thing, or any pecuniary advantage to be paid, delivered or secured in future, either to himself or to any other person for him, from any candidate or other person for such candidate, as an inducement for his vote, or under any other pretext upon proof of the fact to the satisfaction of a majority of the Convention, such delegate shall be forthwith expelled and shall not be received as a delegate to any future Convention for a period of two years, and during that time shall also be ineligible for any party nomination. Cases arising under this and the next preceding rule shall have precedence over all other business in Convention until determined.

XXI. None of these rules shall be altered or rescinded at a regular annual Convention, unless by a vote of two-thirds of all the delegates present.

XXII. Candidates for nomination may be voted for directly, at the delegate elections, and shall receive delegate or district votes in Convention in proportion to their popular vote in the several districts, upon the same principle on which delegates are elected under the 3d rule.

XXIII. No delegate to any convention hereafter shall be entitled to a seat unless his credentials show that he be instructed for some candidate for the various offices to be filled, as set out in the call for the Convention.

Proposed Rules.

Chapter I.
OF THE ELECTION OF DELEGATES.

I. Remains unchanged.
II. Remains unchanged.
III. Remains unchanged.
IV. The delegate elections shall be by ballot and shall be held and conducted by a Judge and clerk, to be selected by the Democrats in attendance, and the said officers shall determine all questions of the right to vote, keep a list of voters and tally of votes counted, to be sent by them to the Convention with their certificate of the result of the election, which certificate shall be prima facie evidence of the persons therein named having a right to seats in the Convention.
V. All delegates must reside in the districts they represent; and in case any delegate shall be unable to attend he shall be allowed to depute another citizen of the district. But no other deputation or representation shall be allowed.
VI. Same as eighteen in old rules.
VII. Voters at delegate elections may cast as many votes as there are delegates to be elected and may cast them all for one delegate, or may divide their votes among the delegates as they see fit; And in the case of a tie vote between delegates, the question shall be decided by drawing lots:

Chapter II.
OF THE CONVENTION.

I. Same as sixteen in old rules.
II. Same as seven in old rules.
III. Same as nine in old rules.
IV. In Convention a majority of all the votes given shall be necessary to a nomination, and no person named shall be peremptorily struck from the list of candidates until after the second vote, when the lowest name shall be struck off and so on at each successive second vote until a nomination shall be effected. Provided that in the case of a nomination of two candidates for the same office at the same time, it shall be necessary to a nomination that the candidate shall receive more than one third of the whole convention vote.
V. In county nominations for officers to be elected by the people shall be made in and by the county conventions, except as herein otherwise provided.
VI. Instructions shall be required upon nominations for all county offices except for Coroner, Surveyor and Auditors, and shall be allowed upon other nominations, and candidates shall receive Convention votes in proportion to their vote in the respective districts.
VII. In cases where instructions are not required by the foregoing rule it shall be necessary to the giving of instructions that at least one-half the voters present at the election shall take part in the proceeding of voting thereon.
VIII. Votes of instructions for candidates shall be recorded and counted in Convention; and votes in violation of instructions shall be disallowed.
IX. In case of a tie vote in convention made by instructions, the candidate who has received the highest popular vote shall be declared nominated:

Chapter III.
OF ELIGIBILITY.

I. Same as nineteen in old rules.
II. Same as twenty in old rules.
III. No person shall be eligible to a nomination by a Convention who has opposed the Democratic ticket at the next preceding election.
IV. Same as thirteen in old rules.

Chapter IV.
OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE.

I. Same as twelve in old rules.
II. Same as four in old rules.
III. In case of the death, declination or removal of any candidate put in nomination by the Convention, before the election; a new nomination of a candidate shall be made by the Standing Committee called together for that purpose by a public notice, from among citizens eligible under these rules.
IV. If a State Convention shall happen at a season of the year previous to the regular meeting of the County Nominating Convention; then and in that case the Standing Committee called together for that purpose, by public notice shall elect the representative delegates for the County and shall appoint senatorial conferees from among citizens eligible under these rules, to select senatorial delegates.
V. The chairman shall call a special meeting of the Standing Committee, upon request in writing of any five members; and in the call he shall state the business or purpose of the meeting; and no business shall be transacted other than that mentioned in the call.
VI. Special Conventions may be called when necessary, by the Standing Committee, the proceedings of which shall conform to these rules.

Chapter V.
OF THE RULES.

If These rules or any one or more of them may be altered, amended or rescinded at any regular convention by a vote of two-thirds of the whole number of delegates to the Convention.

WELCOME TO THE NATIONS.

BY R. H. STODDARD.

Welcome, a thousand welcomes! Our emotion
Demands a speech we have not: it demands
The unutterable largeness of the ocean,
The immeasurable broadness of the lands
That owns us masters. Who is he shall speak
This language for us? from what mountain peak?
And in the rhythms of what epic song,
At once serene and strong?
Welcomes, ten thousand welcomes! It is much,
O sisters! ye have done in coming here;
For from the hour ye touch
Our peaceful shores, ye are peaceful, equal, dear!
Not with exultations,
O Sister, Mother nations!
Do we receive your coming; for more than many see Comes with ye; do ye see it? It is what is to be Some day among your myriads, who will no more obey;
But, peaceable or warring, will then find out the way
Themselves to govern: if they tolerate
Kaisers, and Kings, and Princelings, as to-day,
It will be because they pity and are too good to hate.
The New World is teaching the Old World to be free;
This, her acknowledgement from these, is more
Than all that went before.
Henceforth, America, Man looks up to thee,
Not down at the dead Republics! Rise, arise!
That all men may behold thee. Be not proud;
Be humble and be wise:
And let thy head be bowed
To the Unknown, Supreme One, who on high
Has willed thee not to die!
Be grateful, watchful, brave;
See that among thy children none shall plunder,
Nor rend asunder—
Swift to detect and punish, and strong to shield and save!
Shall the drums beat, trumpets sound,
And the cannon thunder round?
No, these are warlike noises, and must cease;
Not thus, while the whole world from battle rests,
The Commonwealth receives her honored guests—
She celebrates no triumphs but of Peace.

THE FAIRY OF THE WELL.

The civil war between the Cavaliers and Puritans, which was then desolating the land, had taken Landleigh Castle in its destructive course, and that once lordly pile was now a ruin. An ancient well stood near its blackened walls, with a square coping of old, gray, mossy stones, into which flowed a translucent stream. At the back of this well was an antique recess of stone, from the centre of which the water took its course.

The beams of early sunlight glittered on the water as a young cavalier approached the well. If there be a spell called "sweet memories" which, they say, binds the heart to certain places, and it the loveliness of the scenes in which one's childhood has been passed, serves to renew the guileless joys of infancy, then, indeed, might Denzil Norman attribute to their influence his increasing reluctance to depart and rejoin his regiment. But no; he knew the spell that bound him to that spot was the charm of a simple village maiden. Yes, from the moment he had beheld the lovely and gentle Alice Brooke, he felt that his destiny was fixed.

He knew the legend of the old well. Its waters were said to be guarded by the fairy of the castle. She harmed but the wicked. Those who had ever beheld her, (which he never had,) said that her smile was so sweet it made everybody who was fortunate enough to encounter it, good looking and happy.

"Ah! famous fairy of this well," he cried, apostrophizing it—"if indeed, such spirits exist between heaven and man—how gladly would I importune you to award me the affection of a village maiden. Then far—far from the kingly courts and the hostile dins of warfare—"

He paused abruptly, for it appeared to him as if a voice answered him from the well. He listened intently and heard a sweet silvery voice mingling with the rippling of the waves, which chanted these words:

Denzil Norman!—Denzil Norman!
List the Fairy of the Well;
Foes are coming—foes are coming,
Here no longer thou must dwell.
Happier days may on thee wait!
Fly from love and fly from fate!

Denzil was filled with amazement. The voice sounded to his ear like the wreathed choir of unseen spirits. Could it be possible he asked himself, that there were such beings as fairies, who watch our actions, and know our inmost thoughts?

The voice had ceased, but now another sound broke upon his ear—a distant hum as of troops upon the march. The warning was true, then—he was in peril. The Roundheads were near. If detected, he knew he should be denounced as a spy, and shot without delay. Yet still he would not fly until he had exchanged a few farewell words with the lovely Alice.

He hastened back to the house of Dr. Brooke, the village physician and the father of his love. The worthy doctor was surprised at his return.

"Rash youth!" he exclaimed, "were you not admonished on your way hither to fly at once from Landleigh?"

"How know you that?" answered Denzil, in amazement. "Yes, I was admonished, but I had not said farewell to Alice.

"This is absolute madness," said Dr. Brooke. "Boy, boy, are you aware that farewell may cost you your life?"

"Not so, worthy host; I wear a good sword and possess a strong arm to back it," replied Denzil with the confidence of youth. "Where is Alice?"

"She is absent, but will shortly return; and when she does I will send her to you," said the doctor, and left the room.

As Denzil gazed listlessly from the window, a panel in the wall glided noiselessly to one side and through the aperture can e a lovely girl, some eighteen years of age, clad in the plain but becoming costume of a village maid. She closed the panel quietly, advanced to Denzil's side, and laid her hand upon his shoulder. He started up in joyful surprise.

"Ah, sweet Alice!" he exclaimed.

"Denzil, Denzil!" she answered impatiently; "why do you tarry here when every moment adds to the peril of your safety?"

"Chide me not," he returned, "since I tarried but to ask you if you will love me when I am gone, as I shall continue to love you?"

"Oh, Denzil, Denzil!" she responded, plaintively, "is it generous to leave this impression on the heart of a poor maiden, whose last hope could be to unite herself in wedlock with one of noble descent like yours? I do love you—nor blush to acknowledge that which is as dear to me as the love of life itself. But, alas! I have heard it said your hand was devoted to another."

"Another! What other?" demanded Denzil, in surprise.

"The daughter of your father's friend, Lord Eustace Blount, and the proprietor of yonder ruined castle," answered Alice.

"Lord Eustace perished at the battle of Worcester," said Denzil; "his daughter fled or was lost in the conflict. The heart and hand of Denzil Norman are free, Alice, and to you they will be true."

Alice made no further remonstrance, but she presently inquired: "You remember, then, the Lord Eustace and his young, motherless daughter?"

"Alice, I do," he answered; "who ever forgets the companions of earliest years? He was my guardian—she the playful companion of my summer walks. All are gone! But the influence of their good wishes seems still to direct my destiny."

They were now disturbed by the abrupt entrance of a servant, who informed them that the house was surrounded by Puritans, and that they had evidently come in search of Denzil Norman. Alice showed Denzil the secret panel and urged him to conceal himself. He did so with reluctance, and Alice awaited the coming of the Roundhead soldiers with a fluttering heart.

The Roundheads were under the command of the stern Colonel Ireton. He was much incensed when he found that Denzil had escaped him, and ordered his soldiers to seize upon the doctor and Alice, and bear them away prisoners. Denzil, who had lingered behind the panel, fearing some such result, now made his appearance and gave himself up, to preserve his friends. Alice cast a reproachful glance upon him as the Roundheads marched him away.

A brief trial was allotted to the young cavalier. He was adjudged a spy, and sentenced to be shot. He was placed for safe keeping in the chapel of the ruined Castle of Landleigh, and a guard kept vigilant watch over him.

It was night. A lamp burned dimly at the foot of a pedestal supporting the statue of a warrior beneath the shadow of whose shield Denzil Norman sat immersed in gloomy thought. His dream of life appeared to have reached its end. In half an hour, in that chapel, at the foot of his great ancestor, whose battle axe did such marvels in Palestine over the infidels, he, the last of his proud race, was about to sink; and it must be without a struggle, ignobly, ignominiously. Suddenly a voice of sweetest melody broke through the gloomy stillness:

Denzil Norman—Denzil Norman!
List the Fairy of the Well;
I am near thee—Denzil hear me,
Here shalt thou no longer dwell.
Happy days for thee await,
Fly from love, and fly from fate!

Denzil took up the lamp to see from whence the voice proceeded, but a sudden gust of wind extinguished it. But at that moment the moonlight falling with radiant brilliancy on the broken window of the gallery, disclosed to him the form of the fairy standing on the base of a lofty column. Neither form nor feature were visible, however, and a large white veil completely enveloped her person. She looked like the marble image of some sculptured saint.

"Denzil," she said, in a voice that sounded strangely familiar to his ears, "the Fairy of the Well is the friend of true lovers and would have these live. Therefore take thou heart; the fairy is here to secure your flight. The King hath landed on his native shore."

"God save King Charles!" cried Denzil joyfully.

"Amen!" responded the fairy; "thou shalt join him soon. Touch the right knee of the statue—press hard—and a door will open in the pedestal; through it you will find liberty. Freed from this chapel,

DELEGATE ELECTION.

To-morrow (Saturday) is the day for the election of delegates to the county convention which meets on Tuesday afternoon next. It is important that there should be a full vote, as the delegates are obliged to act according to their instructions, and every township should therefore poll every vote in order that the delegates may represent the majority; and not simply those who may choose to vote because it is convenient.—Another reason for a full turn out is that the precedent has been established by which in case of a tie vote in Convention for any office the person who has received the largest popular vote shall be declared the nominee. The several candidates will undoubtedly do all they can to get every man to the polls, but it is the duty of members of the Standing Committee in the several townships and of every Democrat who has the interest of the party at heart, to assist in this. For the information of voters we reprint instructions concerning the use of the tickets. Write the names of as many persons for delegates as your district is entitled to, at the top of the ticket. Strike out all names of candidates for Congress and Sheriff except one, and all names for Associate Judge, and Representative except two, for whom you wish to vote. Write the name of a good active Democrat at the bottom of the ticket for member of the Standing Committee, and then go and vote.

BELKNAP ACQUITTED.

On Tuesday last the vote was taken on the articles of impeachment of ex-Secretary of War Belknap and resulted in his acquittal, the requisite two thirds not voting for conviction. Twenty five Senators voted steadily for acquittal. The verdict will not greatly surprise the country. The Republican party on the eve of a presidential campaign has load enough to carry without having to stagger under the weight of a convicted cabinet officer. The interest in the trial has long since died, but Belknap is as effectually disposed of, so far as public opinion is concerned, as if he had been declared guilty. There is but one point in this verdict of the Senate which is of real importance. It was not denied on the trial that Belknap received money from Marsh, on account of the post tradership held by the latter but the plea was made by Hon J. S. Black, one of his counsel, that in so doing he only followed the precedents established by his predecessors in office. The Senate have acquiesced in this opinion and we may now understand that the Senate of the United States do not esteem bribery a crime provided it can be shown that other men in similar positions have taken money in return for the gift of official positions. This is truly a monstrous doctrine—too monstrous for belief were it not that the records of the trial and the argument of counsel amply prove it. Absolutely there has been nothing done in Washington since the close of the war which evidences a lower standard of morality among our public men than this frightful decision in Belknap's case. There will no doubt be specious arguments by the Senators who voted against conviction to prove that their votes were cast from high and conscientious motives, but the awkward fact still remains that Belknap to all intents and purposes pleaded guilty and relied for his defense solely on the extraordinary excuse that his predecessors had done the same. If the honor and dignity of the Senate has fallen so low as this, we may well pause aghast. The acquittal of Belknap amounts to nothing and had the evidence brought out on his trial proved him innocent would not have caused a ripple of excitement, but he was not innocent and has been set free although a scoundrel because, forsooth, other men had been scoundrels before him and all this to help Hayes, the candidate of that eminent reformer Carl Schurz.

The U. S. Senate Committee on Pensions have submitted a report cutting down the proposed pension to the widow of Gen Custer from $50 to $30 per month. A noble deed truly and one of which the senate should be proud. It would be a great comfort to the country at large to know the name of the distinguished statesman who proposed this reduction. His constituents ought to re-elect him when his term expires and present him with a service of plate. Such an economist should not go unrewarded. Should the senate agree to this contemptible report it will utterly disgrace itself and the people will more than ever despise a body which is anxious to waste thousands of dollars on useless consulates and second rate missions but has spasm of economy over a petty pension to the widow of a gallant soldier.

Here's richness. It is reported that Mullett is to be reinstated as Supervising Architect of the Treasury. He is the magnificent fraud, it may be remembered, who squandered hundreds of thousands of dollars of the public money, debauched the architecture of the country so far as Government buildings were concerned, got mad when asked to account for his expenditures and was finally kicked out of office by Secretary Bristow. Grant is determined to undo all of Bristow's good work if it lies in his power. The misery of it all is that the people have to pay for it.

That eminent statesman B. F. Butler is again a candidate for Congress but he has moved into a new district where his chances look better. He could not do any particular amount of mischief if elected and would certainly enliven the proceedings of the House. By disgusting the people he will probably hurt his own party more than his opponents.

Warmoth, of Louisiana, is reported to have said, anent the sending of soldiers to the state: "We don't want any white troops in Louisiana. They affiliate with the people too soon and we can't use them. We want the colored regiments to intimidate the niggers and prevent them from joining the democratic organizations."

Important Correction.

We notice that many of our exchanges have made a mistake in publishing the time for assessments. We fell into the same error ourselves Friday, September 8th is the last day for being assessed, instead of the 5th as most papers have it.

FIGHTING INDIANS.

Following close upon the terrible massacre of Custer and his band by the savage Sioux, comes a rumor that Gen. Crook's command has met with disaster and three more men were killed than Custer had in his command. The rumor is denied both by Sherman and by Sheridan, but there remains in the minds of the people a sickening feeling that such a catastrophe is within the limits of possibility and that the telegrams of to-day may be a dread reality to-morrow. One thing seems to be certain, which is, that even such experienced border fighters as Custer have underrated the warlike abilities of the Sioux. The Indians have so long been held in contempt by the whites that the latter have grown careless and have actually adopted as truth the western saying that "one white man is as good as ten Indians." There are weeping widows and sorrowing children in that frontier outpost to-day who can testify that the white man's boast is a lie. The country might as well understand this matter: The Indians are as well armed as our own troops; they are expert in the use of weapons; they fight in their own way, not in line of battle, but as the Arabs fight, in flying squads, difficult to bring into direct conflict but requiring constant watchfulness to prevent the destruction of troops who are kept in line and offer a fair mark for the bullets of their savage foes; they are superb horsemen and their small but fleet ponies are more than a match for the heavier horses of the cavalry; they know the country perfectly, every foot of ground having been traversed by them in hunting or in fighting. These are facts and not even the assurances of Sheridan, comfortably secure at Chicago hundreds of miles away, that "everything is lovely" will quiet the apprehensions of intelligent men. Sheridan thinks there is no need of volunteers and that the force of regulars now or shortly to be on the scene of action will be found sufficient to cope with the Indians. Perhaps so, but the people demand that this war shall be short, sharp and decisive. They will not be satisfied to have operations prolonged and hundreds of lives and thousands in money wasted to gain now and then an advantage. It would cost less in blood and money to send a large force at once and crush out this outbreak than to fill up depleted ranks and dawdle along until want of ammunition compelled the Indians to seek the agencies and profess friendship until they had refilled their powder horns and replaced their dulled scaping knives by sharper and stronger ones.

The Indians have been shamefully treated—there is no doubt of that—but what is done is done and cannot now afford an excuse for the murder of white men. This business of slaughter and mutilation must be stopped and if it is not done speedily there will soon arise such an universal burst of indignation from the people that even Piegan Phil may prick his ears and call for volunteers to aid his regulars.

ONE MORE UNFORTUNATE.

Is Judge Black in earnest in his bold, bad defense of Belknap? Does he believe that the bribery and corruption and gift taking and bartering of official position for money which has characterized and disgraced this administration is indeed condoned by its universality? What, because the President has accepted gifts and returned to the donors lucrative offices; the Postmaster General passed straw bids, and divided the spoil filched from the Treasury; the Secretary of the Navy made his thousands out of his illegitimate transactions with the Government; the Secretary of the Treasury dividing with Babcock and other White House retainers, probably including "Sylph," the plunder of the crooked whiskey ring, justifies Belknap in selling with the knowledge of the President, the Post traderships and throwing his wife's cloak over the transaction? If he does, then the baleful atmosphere of Washington has destroyed the fine perceptions of honesty heretofore supposed to be held by Judge Black.

Belknap was entitled to a defense, as every criminal is. He had a right to the services of the ablest Counsel he could procure. They were bound to see that no testimony was admitted against him but that which was strictly legal, that he was tried under the due and well established forms of law, and the strictest rules of evidence. That was their duty and his right—But beyond that no counsel is required to go.

Judge Black had no right to put his high character for integrity, and his admitted scrupulous sense of official nicety in the scale in favor of a criminal whom the evidence proved to be guilty, and endeavor to debauch the whole public sentiment of the country by a defense which is a more ineffaceable blot upon the character of the Senate, the administration and the people, than the act itself.

Tilden and Hendricks.

Both these distinguished gentlemen are now at Saratoga, and it is stated that their letters of acceptance will be published next week.

In contradiction of many statements it is positively asserted, upon the best authority, that there has really never been any serious difference of opinion between Tilden and Hendricks upon any question involved in the campaign, and that the delay in the appearance of Governor Tilden's letter of acceptance is wholly due to the fact that the governor has been so pressed with other official business that he has not had an opportunity until recently to give the attention to his letter which so important a document demanded.

Governor Hendricks speaks not simply hopefully, but very confidently, of the success of the national democratic ticket in November. He thinks Governor Tilden is 30,000 stronger in New York for President than he was for Governor. He has no fears of the result in Indiana, believing that Williams, the democratic candidate for Governor, will lead off with the state in October, thus paving the way for Tilden and himself in November. Williams is a plain, solid, substantial man, not brilliant, but reliable and honest. He is tall and lean and lank, and is to the democracy of Indiana what Lincoln was to the republicans of Illinois. He is a granger and will receive considerable strength from the agricultural interests of his state, and Governor Hendricks thinks there is no doubt of his election. He is also hopeful of a democratic victory in Ohio.

Grant Ought to Explain.

Methodist.

We are among those who believe that President Grant ought to explain to this Christian nation why he has pardoned seven gaugers convicted of using their official powers to aid in defrauding the revenue of the United States. We expressed, two weeks ago, a fear that the whisky men would soon be back in power. The pardoning of seven office holders, convicted by juries of defrauding the revenue, looks very badly to us; and there are intimations that the rest of Mr. Bristow's jail birds will soon be given free wings. The least prejudiced observers will involuntarily think of the charge that campaign funds came in 1872 from the whisky ring, and ask hard questions.

WHITE HOUSE SECRETS.

The Congressional committee on whiskey frauds on Thursday of last week, took the testimony of ex-solicitor Bluford Wilson. Among other things he gives the following explanation of the signature "Sylph" to some of the Babcock telegrams: I asked General Porter what explanation he had of the 'Sylph' telegram, and he gave me an explanation to the effect that "Sylph" was a lewd woman with whom the President of the United States has been in intimate association, and that she had bothered and annoyed the President until one time it chanced that McDonald's attention was called to her at some place where she was either in reach of or in the vicinage of the President; and he said, "Why that is Sylph." General Babcock said, "Do you know that woman, McDonald?" and Mac said, "Yes, I know her well." General Babcock said, to use General Porter's own words, "She has been giving the President a great deal of trouble; I wish you would relieve him of her in some way," and McDonald said: "Certainly, that is easy. I can manage her," and so important was the service which McDonald thus rendered the President that the term Sylph became a common matter of joke between General Babcock and McDonald, so that both of them were in the habit, as occasion might require, of addressing one another under that name. He also said to me, without endeavoring to explain definitely, that he, Babcock, Joyce and McDonald frequently had occasion to correspond with each other with reference to the movement of mutual friends, and that the Sylph telegram referred to the movements of some parties who were going out to St. Louis on bridge business. He said to me, without going any further into explanation, that the most inestimable service in my power to render to the President of the United States would be to shield and save General Babcock from exposure; that these matters were of a character that could not be gone into without giving all parties the very greatest trouble and concern. I told the General that I would do what I could fairly to see that General Babcock was honestly and squarely dealt with, and that no injustice was done him, but that further than that I could not and would not go; that the matter was in the hands of the local officers at St. Louis, and I would urge upon them the grave importance to all parties that no mistake should be made in reference to General Babcock's connection with the ring.

Wilson afterwards spoke to the President about this explanation, and of course His Excellency denie it like a man. This statement came from General Porter, an ex-secretary of the President who continued on intimate terms at the White House after Grant knew what Porter had said of him. In answer to the question "do you not believe, and did you not at the time believe, that the explanation of General Porter of the 'Sylph' dispatches, was intended to deter you from doing your duty in the prosecution of General Babcock?" Wilson answered, "most undoubtedly I did and do." Why did Grant continue his intimate relations with Porter after he knew of the damaging statement made by Porter? It was either because Porter told the truth, and Grant did not dare to cast him off, or else he was willing that his own character should be blackened in Wilson's eyes in order that his pet Babcock might be acquitted in the eyes of the world. Either horn of the dilemmais an unpleasant one for our most estimable President to take hold of. It is either relation with a lewd woman, or complicity with the whiskey ring.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 1st, 1876.

Maj. Bluford Wilson, late Solicitor of the Treasury, was all day on Friday before the House Committee investigating the St Louis Whisky frauds. His testimony is very voluminous and points significantly to the fact that the President certainly did all he could to shield Babcock and others, strongly objecting to allowing any to turn state's evidence, though convinced that there was no other possible way to get at the facts than by taking the testimony of some of the ring to convict others. The case looks bad for Grant as it now stands and unless he can in some manner explain it will be overwhelming. There is no probability that Congress will adjourn this week. The "dead lock" is as tight as it was this time last week the Senate standing much in the position of the man who hung the jury; when asked about it he said 'I couldn't help it there were eleven—obstinate fellows against me'.

No news from the Indian war. Recruits in small numbers are being sent to the West to fill up the regiments and put them upon a war footing, as eight or ten are sent to one company, fifteen or twenty to another, and so on. The judgment of the Senate as a Court of Impeachment will, it is thought be rendered to-day. It is high time it were ended as the public are becoming as tired of this as they were disgusted with the Beecher affair. The Baltimore Gazette in alluding to the trial now about to close, says: His counsel did not deny that he received money from Marsh, they boldly admit that and try to justify it on the ground that in accepting money Belknap only followed the example of those who were associated with him in the administration of the Government from the President down. It was the President who set these precedents upon which Mr. Belknap's counsel now fall back. His first cabinet was selected entirely from the men who had given him money and houses and libraries, besides other presents, or who had advanced his fortunes in the army or in civil life. Mr. Stewart his first Secretary of the Treasury had been a generous subscriber to the hundred thousand dollar fund which was given him at the close of the war. Mr. G. B. Washburne had been his firm friend from the day that he entered the army the second time, his defender in Congress and his advocate with Mr. Lincoln for promotion after promotion. His first Secretary, Mr. Borie had drawn a good sized check to buy a mansion for Grant in Philadelphia before he was rewarded by a seat in the Cabinet. One of his Attorney Generals, Mr. Hoar, gave him a library, the most unwelcome gift he ever received, and Pierrepont the present Minister to England subscribed twenty thousand dollars to a campaign fund before he was asked for his advice in the counsels of the nation. How could Belknap be expected to do any better? What is the difference morally between the President and Belknap? If there was no agreement between Marsh and Belknap as to the payments to be made, the ex-Secretary is entitled to an acquittal. The only difference between the unimpeached President and the ex-Secretary of War is, that the one took presents before the services were rendered and the other afterwards. This is a nice shade of legal and moral responsibility, but there is no body in the country so able to decide it as those who now have it under consideration. The Republican members have had all the experience necessary to enable them to do so.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Democratic voters of the several districts of Columbia County will meet at their usual places of holding the general elections, on Saturday the 5th day of August, 1876, between the hours of three and seven o'clock in the afternoon, and elect delegates by ballot to represent the districts in a County Convention to be held at the Opera House in Bloomsburg, on Tuesday, the 8th day of August, 1876, at 11 o'clock, a. m., to place in nomination one candidate for Congress, one candidate for Senator, two candidates for Representative, one candidate for Sheriff, two candates for Associate Judge, one candidate for Jury Commissioner, and to transact such business as the interests of the Democratic party may require.

Also, at the same time and places and in the same manner, the Democratic electors of each district will elect one person to serve as member of the County Standing Committee.

By order of the County Committee,

WARREN J. BUCKALEW, Chairman.

CAMPAIGN NOTES.

General Franz Sigel fights mitT ilden, and a great many of his old fellow-soldiers are enlisting under the same flag.

The Buckeye Granger, of Perrysburg, Ohio, supports the St. Louis ticket and predicts that it will be elected.

The Northampton (Mass.) Journal, heretofore Republican, enthusiastically supports the platform and nominees of the St. Louis Convention.

The (Mansfield) Ohio Liberal, General Brinckerhoff's paper, favors the election of Tilden, and endorses the St. Louis Platform. The Liberal supported Hayes for Governor last fall.

Four years of Hayes as President would be in effect a third term for Grant, because Hayes is pledged by his letter of acceptance to remove none of Grant's relatives and friends from office.

Gov. Hayes signed the bill increasing the fees and emoluments of Ohio officials $5,000,000, in the aggregate. Such a man may be anxious for reform, but he gives no premise of retrenchment.

"From imbecility, if not from worse causes," says Thurlow Weed, "we are to-day the worst governed nation in Christendom." True enough; and if this is the sad result of sixteen years of Republican rule, isn't it about time to make a change?

The Conkling Club of Utica, N. Y., was composed of 700 members before the Cincinnati Convention. After the Convention, a meeting was called to resolve it into a Hayes and Wheeler Club, but only seven loyal men answered to the call, and the meeting adjourned sine die.

Digest of Election Laws.

Polls open at 7 a. m. and close at 7 p. m.

WHO CAN VOTE.

Every male citizen, twenty-one years of age, possessing the following qualifications, shall be entitled to vote at all elections:

1. He shall have been a citizen of the United States one month.

2. He shall have resided in the state one year; or, if having previously been a qualified elector or native born citizen thereof, and shall have removed therefrom and returned, then he shall have resided therein six months immediately preceding the election.

3. He shall have resided in the district where he intends to vote two months immediately preceding the election, instead of ten days, as formerly.

4. If twenty-one years of age, or upward, he shall have paid, within two years, a state or county tax, which shall have been assessed at least two months previous to the election, and paid at least one month previous to the same.

5. Foreign born citizens must have been naturalized at least one month before the election, and must conform to the requirements contained in section 4, preceding.

The election will be held on "the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November," being this year the 7th day of the month.

Friday, September 8th, is the last day for being assessed.

Saturday, October 7th, is the last day for securing naturalization papers.

Saturday, October 7th, is the last day on which taxes can be paid in legal time to vote.

The above dates should be carefully remembered and acted on by all voters.

Democrats, This Is Your Record.

The Democrats in Congress adopted the following resolution, offered by Mr. Holman, of Indiana. It is known as the anti-subsidy, anti-loan of public credit manifesto:

Resolved, That in the judgment of this House, in the present condition of the financial affairs of the Government, no subsidies in money, bonds, public lands, endorsements, or by pledge of the public credit, should be granted by Congress to associations or corporations engaged or proposing to engage in public or private enterprises, and all appropriations from the public Treasury are to be limited at this time to such amount only as shall be imperatively demanded by the public service.

On this Mr. Holman demanded the previous question, which was seconded by a rising vote of 138 yeas. The yeas and nays were demanded and ordered, and the result was 205 in favor of the resolution to 33 against it.

We propose to keep this declaration of Democratic principles before the people.

Gov. Chamberlain, of South Carolina made a great mistake politically when he broke with Patterson and Moses. Now when he wants to wave the bloody shirt, and call for troops, and re-elect himself, he finds that his plan of campaign is patented and that the patentees are not disposed to assist him. There have been few more ridiculous occurrences than the snubs received by Mr. Chamberlain, who went to Washington with an undoubted outrage in hand expecting deferential treatment according to his deserving, and is politely sent back with instructions to redress it himself. Of what further use is the bloody shirt if the federal army no longer follows its crimson signalling?

The course now being pursued by the New York Tribune is slightly bewildering to those who have heretofore regarded that journal as consistent if nothing more. One day's edition contains a savage attack on Grant's administration and the next day there appears a article laudatory of Hayes. As the men who are running Hayes are Grant's advisers and friends it is a little difficult to reconcile the different opinions expressed by the Tribune.

He was a truthful as well as witty fellow who described the Tribune as a paper "founded by Horace Greeley and foundered by Whitelaw Reid."

The New York Tribune warns its Republican friends that attacks upon the character of Governor Tilden will not make any votes for Hayes. It says: "The ability of Gov. Tilden, and his integrity of purpose may as well be acknowledged by his opponents. Men who honestly desire reform will not belittle his services in this city and State, nor will candid men doubt that he would make an earnest effort, if elected, to honor himself and his party by a pure administration."

Speaking of the Hamburg riot, the New York Tribune wisely says: "We have no hope of peace, order and good government in South Carolina, or in any southern State similarly situated, until both political parties abandon the bad habit of making every disturbance the occasion of cheap electioneering."

Zach Chandler, repudiated by the Michigan republicans in the election of Christiancy to the United States senate, is chairman of the Republican National Committee and commander-in-chief of the Hayes and Wheeler forces. The "reform" element of the republican party must feel complimented by the appointment of such a leader.

A NOBLE PRINCE.—To see Lieutenant Grant walking down State street, switching a twenty-five cent cane, fighting Indians and saving his country, is one of the noblest and nobbiest sights under the sun.—Chicago Times.

General Grant continues to unload himself, says the Springfield Republican, of the Republican party, and it begins to be apparent that the Republican party has got to unload itself of General Grant or die the death.

Modern Women.

It is a sad commentary upon our boasted civilization that the women of our times have degenerated in health and physique until they are literally a race of invalids—pale, nervous, feeble and back-achy, with only here and there a few noble exceptions in the persons of the robust, buxom ladies characteristic of the sex in days gone by. By a very large experience, covering a period of years, and embracing the treatment of many thousands of cases of those ailments peculiar to women, Dr. Pierce, of the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., has perfected, by the combination of certain vegetable extracts, a natural specific, which he does not extol as a cure-all, but one which admirably fulfils a singleness of purpose, being a most positive and reliable remedy for those weaknesses and complaints that afflict the women of the present day. This natural specific compound is called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The following are among those diseases in which this wonderful medicine has worked cures as if by magic and with a certainty never before attained by any medicines: Weak back, nervous and general debility, falling and other displacements of internal organs, resulting from debility and lack of strength in natural supports, internal fever, congestion, inflammation and ulceration and very many other chronic diseases incident to women, not proper to mention here, in which, as well as in the cases that have been enumerated, the Favorite Prescription effects cures—the marvel of the world. It will not do harm in any state or condition of the system, and by adopting its use the invalid lady may avoid that severest of ordeals—the consulting of a family physician. Favorite Prescription is sold by dealers in medicines generally.

Crookedness in the late H. Bucher Swope's accounts, while District Attorney for the Western District of Pennsylvania, have been recently discovered to the extent of $20,000.

Babcock, Belknap, Avery, Joyce, M'Donald and M'Kee are for Hayes and Wheeler. Tweed, Connolly, Ingersoll and the New York canal ring are not for Tilden.

A son of Jefferson Davis belongs to the Chickasaw Guards, of Memphis, the company which recently tendered its services to the government to avenge the death of Custer.

E. F. KUNKEL'S BITTER WINE OF IRON

has never been known to fail in the cure of weakness, attended with symptoms; indisposition to exertion, loss of memory, difficulty of breathing, general weakness, horror of disease, weak, nervous trembling, dreadful horror of death, night sweats, cold feet, weakness dimness of vision, langnor, universal lassitude of the muscular system, enormous appetite with dyspeptic symtoms, hot hands, flushing of the body, dryness of the skin, pallid countenance and eruptions on the face, purifying the blood, pain in the back, heaviness of the eyelids, frequent black spots flying before the eyes with temporary suffusion and loss of sight, want of attention, etc. These symptoms all arise from a weakness and to remedy that use E. F. KUNKEL'S Bitter Wine of Iron. It never fails. Thousands are now enjoying health who have used it. Take only E. F. KUNKEL'S.

Beware of counterfeits and base imitations. As Kunkel's Bitter Wine of Iron is so well known all over the country, druggists themselves make an imitation and try to palm it off on their customers, when they call for Kunkel's Bitter Wine of Iron.

Kunkel's Bitter Wine of Iron is put up only in $1 bottles, and has a yellow wrapper nicely put on the outside with the proprietor's photograph on the wrapper of each bottle. Always look for the photograph on the outside, and you will always be sure to get the genuine. $1 per bottle, or six for $5. Sold by Druggists and Dealers, everywhere.

ALL WORMS REMOVED ALIVE.

E. F. KUNKEL'S Worm Syrup never fails to destroy Pin, Sea and Stomach worms. Dr. KUNKEL, the only successful Physician who removes Tape worm in 2 hours, alive with head, and no fee until removed. Common sense teaches if Tape worm be removed all other worms can be readily destroyed. Send for circular to Dr. Kunkel, No. 229 North 9th street, Philadelphia, Pa., or call on your druggist and ask for a bottle of Kunkel's Worm Syrup. Price $1.00. It Never fails. July.

A Health Promoting Stimulant.

Physicians, who certainly ought to be the best judges of such matters, declare that wholesome stimulant is not only desireable but essential in many instances. When the temporary good effect of a sound stimulant is confirmed and rendered permanent, as in the case of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, by the action of tonic and alterative principles combined with it, it becomes infinitely more efficacious as a renovant of physical energy and a corrective of those conditions of the body which invite disease. The Bitters have received the emphatic sanction of medical men who have observed the effect of that popular stimulative cordial as a remedy for weakness, nervousness, dyspepsia, constipation, inactivity of the liver, malarious fevers, and many other diseases. Its basis is sound old rye, the purest liquor known to commerce, and itself possessing tonic properties of no mean order. July 1mo

SIDDALL'S

Magnetic Soap.

The Cheapest Soap that can be used for the following Reasons:

1st.—One bar will go as far as two of any other.

2d.—Only half the usual rubbing being required, there is a saving of more than the entire cost of the Soap in labor alone.

3d.—The Clothes are made SWEET, CLEAN, and WHITE without BOILING or SCALDING, thus all injury to them is avoided. There is a saving in fuel and hard work, and the washing is done in about half the usual time.

It is also guaranteed under a penalty of fifty dollars not to injure the clothes or hands, and as one trial will enable any person to ascertain the truth of these statements, it would never pay the proprietor to engage in an extensive system of advertising and claim such decided merit for his soap unless he knew from positive experience that it would prove to be in every respect what is claimed for it.

This is also a superior Soap for SHAVING and TOILET purposes.

Every true Democrat should feel it both a duty and a privilege to vote to-morrow. Give us the best men for office and the whole community will profit by their election.

Our umbrella has been returned and is now on exhibition. The gentleman as had it might have put a half-sole on before returning it, as it leaks a little.

Rev G. D. Gurley of Delmont, Westmoreland county, has accepted a call to take charge of the German Reformed church of Bloomsburg, and will enter upon his duties about the first of September.

The Exchange Hotel continues to sustain its high reputation as a first-class house. Its fame and good name are spreading, and a number of people from the cities are spending their summer vacation there. No better place could have been selected.

Let there be a general turn out of voters at the delegate election to-morrow. Too many men make the mistake of believing delegate elections to be of no moment; on the contrary they are of the greatest importance, for on them depend the nominations in Convention.

Bloomsburg wants a steam fire engine.—Montour American.

That is just what we want and what we expect to have, but not until we get something to squirt through it. Water works are the present necessity.

The performance at the Opera House on Wednesday and Thursday evenings under the direction of S. K. White passed off very creditably. The audience was not as large as it ought to have been, but those present expressed themselves as much pleased.

Postal Changes.—The new Post Master General has appointed Henry C. Hess as Post Master at Central in Sugarloaf township, Thomas B. Miller at Espy, and John Donald at Pine Summit. The appointees are in every way qualified for the positions.

It is worth while for our readers to make a note of the fact that Congress having restored the old rates, transient newspapers and matter of similar character are now transmitted at the rate of one cent for two ounces instead of one cent for each ounce. In other words a one cent stamp will suffice for a newspaper.

Hon. B. L. Hewit, one of the Fish Commissioners of the State writes us that the "catch" of black bass on the Juniata is very favorable this year. We hope that the problem of stocking our streams with shad will soon be solved, so as to give our people cheap food. Low wages and cheap food should go together.

The nights and mornings are now delightfully cool and we doubt if a change in the weather was ever more thoroughly appreciated. The continuance of the heated term this year was something beyond the experience of the oldest of our citizens. The Philadelphia North American states that so long a spell of hot weather has not occurred for eighty six years.

Council Cup was visited by a pic-nic party from Bloomsburg on Friday last, and a very pleasant day was enjoyed, notwithstanding the rain which began to fall early in the afternoon. Council Cup is a high point on the mountain opposite Hicks' Ferry, from which a view can be had on a clear day for many miles down the river. It is just the place for a pic-nic.

The Bloomsburg base ballers went over to Muncy last Saturday to capture the club of that place—but they didn't by as much as 14 to 6. Our boys had rarely, if ever, played together as a club and were not in the best trim to defeat a regular nine. The return game takes place on the Fair Grounds in this town, to-morrow, when the tables may be turned.

Candidates are as numerous as pebbles on the sea shore, and as industrious as the busy bee.—To-day will end the canvass so far as they are concerned, and there must then necessarily be seventeen disappointed men. Whoever receives the nominations for the respective offices in the county ought to be heartily supported by all defeated candidates. With the present prospect of success in the Presidential campaign we want no sore heads.

We have received pamphlet copies of the speech of Hon. Franklin B. Gowen in the case of the Commonwealth vs Thomas Munley, the Molly Maguire who was indicted for the murder of Thomas Sanger on September 1st, 1875. It is a clear, logical and powerful argument, at once interesting and convincing. With legal precision Mr. Gowen traces the tragedy from its beginning, refutes and overthrows the specious reasoning of the prisoner's counsel and holds up the murderer to the execration of the people. At times the speech is fairly eloquent and is brightened here and there with poetical quotations, but the train of reasoning is never broken. It is certainly a most remarkable argument and well worthy of perusal.

BLACK BASS.—A Catawissa subscriber desires to know the full text of the law in regard to the season for catching black bass. We give below the full text of Sec. 22 of the amended law of 1876:

SECTION 22. That no person shall at any time catch or kill, in any of the waters of this State, save only with a rod hook and line, out-line or scroll, and no person shall catch or expose for sale, or have in his or her possession after the same has been killed, any black bass, pike or pickerel, lucio perridos, commonly known as Susquehanna salmon, between the first day of March and the first day of July, except alive for stocking other waters, under a penalty of ten dollars for each offence: Provided, This section shall not apply to the waters of Lake Erie, except in the ponds on the island or peninsula forming the north and east shores of the harbor of Erie.

A Jersey Shore undertaking firm announce that they have just completed the construction of a new hearse, in which "they will be happy to haul any one desiring that kind of a ride."

A Carrier Pigeon, set off at Scranton, the other day, reached New York in two hours and twenty minutes. This is said to be the fastest known time made by any pigeon in this country

We are requested to announce that there will be a meeting of the Democratic Standing Committee at the Opera house in Bloomsburg immediately after the adjournment of the Convention on Tuesday next.

Mr. A. L. Hendershott, a former resident of Bloomsburg, who has been living in California for some time past has returned to town. He will remain in the East, as the expenses of living in San Francisco are too heavy to be borne. Mr. Hendershott has ceased to be a bachelor and his wife accompanies him.

We commend the action of sheriff Fornwald in requiring enough money to be paid down by purchasers at Sheriff's sales to pay all costs. Much trouble has heretofore arisen from the delay of purchasers in settling with the Sheriff, and several times it has happened that after a delay of months the property has been sold over again because of failure of bidders. We hope the Sheriff will adhere strictly to this rule in all cases.

We insert elsewhere an advertisement and price list of the law blanks &c. printed at the COLUMBIAN office. If all the Attorneys in the county would adopt these blanks, the court files would be uniform, and much neater than they are now. The blanks are very cheap and save much time and labor. We have enough to supply all.

A CARD.

It is proper that I should explain to my friends that business engagements will prevent me from making a canvass of the County to solicit votes as a candidate for Congress. My devotion and services to the party are known; and I believe the people, unaided, are fully competent to judge of the qualifications of a candidate for that important office without personal solicitation.

tf C. B. BROCKWAY.

A fishing party went out to the Iron Company's dam on Monday last. All of the party were experts and their luck was simply immense. They caught sixteen fish, the largest of which would measure fully three inches in length. As the hay scales were in use when the party reached town they were unable to weigh the fish. This we regret as it would have formed an important part of this notice. After all there is nothing like skil to ensure success in fishing—unless it may be grasshoppers.

We would call attention to the fact that it will soon be a year since the present proprietors took charge of the COLUMBIAN. All unpaid subscriptions were due some time ago, and as many of our subscribers will be in town to attend the Convention on Tuesday next, it will be an excellent opportunity for them to call in and settle for the year which expires on October 1st. We have enclosed bills in a number of papers, and next week will send them to all who have not yet paid. As less than one fifth of our subscribers have paid up, the necessity for our sending reminders can be readily understood.

Deputy Sheriff, E. B. Bidleman met with a serious accident while riding over the mountain the other side of Mainville, on Wednesday last. In some way he was thrown from his sulky, and was found lying insensible in the road. He was brought home on a bed and did not recover consciousness until he reached there. He has no knowledge of how the accident occurred, but thinks the wheel broke in going over the very rough roads and pitched him out suddenly on the back of his head and shoulders, which are considerably bruised. Although feeling very sore, there were no bones broken and it is hoped that he will be able to resume his official duties in a few days.

There are some of our citizens who show a desire to test the validity of the cattle ordinance by permitting their cows to run at large. On Sunday afternoon we counted ten cows on Third street. On Monday morning six of them found their way into the pound, and a great hue and cry was raised by some of their owners. Perhaps it may as well be said now as at any time, that certain parties who represent themselves as leaders of the opposition to the cattle ordinance are making a great mistake by the course they are pursuing. Threats of discontinuance of patronage, and personal attacks on members of the Town Council is hardly the way to induce a change of the present law. If the ordinance should stand let the responsibility fall where it properly belongs.

There exists in the minds of many persons a prejudice against frogs or, rather, the eating of them. We feel sorry for those people they really miss so much. A spring chicken is not so delicate as a frog and there is just a suspicion of a gamy flavor about the latter which renders it far preferable to chicken. The frog is not a handsome creature when his foot is on his native stump, nor is he graceful, nor especially tuneful, though his lungs are strong, but when properly prepared and fried, as one fries oysters, or stewed with cream, his good qualities are apparent. Some of the typos of this office secured a fine lot of frogs last week and gave a supper which was attended by a representative from the sanctum. The supper was delicious, the cooking having been done by a typo and done well. Thanks.

A well conducted hotel is a public blessing. H ckton is fortunate in possessing one. The Central, kept by Col. Fitzpatrick, is a model house. The rooms are elegantly furnished and are supplied with hot and cold water and gas. The system of ventilation is perfect. There are bath rooms on every floor. The building is heated by steam and much of the cooking is done by the same agency. The table is excellent and the attendance all that could be desired. Attached to the hotel is a fine restaurant with dining parlors for ladies and for gentlemen. The wood work is North Carolina pine and presents a fine appearance. The Col's treatment of his guests is delightfully courteous and hose who once visit the Central will be sure to go again. Col. Fitzpatrick served with distinction in the war as a magnificent silver vase presented to him by the members of the 28th and 147th Regiments and Knap's Battery amply testifies.

HART.—In Bloomsburg on Friday, July 28th.—William Thomas, son of William and Amelia Hart, aged 7 years, 3 months and 22 days.

Death moves in a mysterious way. Again it has knocked at the door and carried away one of the lambs of a happy fold. Willie Hart, a noble little boy, was a short time ago stricken down with a disease which from the first was known to be incurable, and after suffering intensely for several days, folded his hands calmly in the quiet sleep of death, which knows no waking here. In this sad bereavement his stricken parents have the deepest sympathy of the entire community, which feeling was manifested by the many beautiful floral offerings sent in, and by the very large attendance at the funeral on Sunday last. While it is comforting to know that the hearts of others throo in sympathetic unison with those in affliction, time alone can soften the anguish caused by the loss of a loved one, and the Great Healer alone can reconcile to the chastisement of a loving Father. To Him we commend the sorrowing family.

The President has issued a proclamation declaring that the fundamental conditions imposed by Congress on the State of Colorado, to entitle her to admission to the Union, have been ratified and accepted, and the admission of said State into the Union is now complete.

We have forwarded to the various election districts the tickets and election papers for the delegate election to be held Saturday, August 5th. The names of all the candidates are printed on one ticket in alphabetical order. In voting instructions the voter should strike out all the names on the list except his choice. One candidate is to be selected for each office, except Representative and Associate Judge, for which two candidates are to be named. The tickets and election papers are to be returned to the Convention. 2w

"Is Tilden a safe men?"—Harper's Weekly.

To this the New York World replies: If our memory serves us right, the names of the safe men are Harrington and Babcock. Their performances at Washington in that line have led to their indictment. They are members of the Washington Ring and are enthusiastic for Hayes. One of them is so safe out of the country that he will hardly consider it wise to come back and vote.

A Pittsburg inventor is reported to have made a remarkable discovery in the tempering of glass by which it is rendered as tough as india rubber. Using one of the patent chimneys as a hammer he drives tenpenny nails into a 2½ inch plank without making a flaw in the glass.

Jacob Nannemacher, of Milwaukee, being rich, has paid his fine of ten thousand dollars for defrauding the revenue out of whisky tax; and being, as we said before, rich, has been pardoned and released from custody by order of President Grant.

Several buildings in Rhomere, Cass Co., Mo., were demolished by a tornado on Saturday morning. A woman and child were killed, and an old lady fatally injured.

Robert Lincoln, esq., the only surviving son of the late President Lincoln, will take the stump in Illinois for Tilden and Hendricks.

The Liberal State Committee of Michigan have unanimously declared for TILDEN and HENDRICKS.

Out West, Gov. Hayes is regarded by his party as a Free Trader. The Republican papers in Pennsylvania say he is a Protectionist.

Brick Pomeroy refuses to support Tilden, which may be counted as a great gain for the Democratic ticket.

Gentlemen—For the benefit of those afflicted with Dyspepsia or weakness of the digestive organs, I would state that I have been engaged in the drug business upward of twenty years, during which time I have sold no medicine that has relieved so many as the Peruvian Syrup, and having myself been afflicted for a long time with indigestion, I was perfectly cured by taking one large bottle. JONATHAN WOLFE.

Sold by all druggists.

WHERE TO ADVERTISE.

A. T. Stewart says the best advertising mediums he has ever found are the old established organs of the two political parties, at the several county seats throughout the Union. "These," he says "reach every family of the least account in their several counties, and are more carefully read than any other class of journals." If Mr. Stewart's judgment is of value, there is no difficulty in deciding which paper it is for the interest of business men to advertise in. The COLUMBIA DEMOCRAT, upon which this paper is partially founded, was established in 1836, and the COLUMBIAN now enjoys a wider circulation and greater prosperity than it ever did. It goes weekly into two thousand families in Columbia and adjoining counties, and by most of them is read from th first to the last line. It is the only recognized exponent of nearly five thousand Democratic voters in the county. It gives advertisements a tasty display, that makes them attractive to its patrons, thus ensuring greater certainty that they will peruse them. While its circulation is undoubtedly much the largest in the county, the advertising rates of the COLUMBIAN are no higher than those of other papers with barely half and several not one-fourth the number of subscribers. Facts like these speak for themselves. No shrewd business man will neglect to insert his advertisements in the COLUMBIAN. tf

A Double Danger Averted.

The inhabitant of a malarious region is threatened by a double danger. He is not only compelled to breathe miasma, but to swallow it, since it infects not only the atmosphere, but the water. The aerial poison threatens his system through the lungs and pores, the liquid through the stomach. Against this double peril there is but one protection, and that is to invigorate the entire body through the digestive and secretive organs. Ordinary tonics usually fail to accomplish this—Hostetter's Stomach Bitters never. In the tropics, where the diseases originated by malaria are of a far more malignant type than those originated by the same cause in the temperate zone, it enjoys immense and constantly increasing sales, and there is no portion of this continent where it is not the reigning specific for miasmatic fevers and disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, proceeding from malaria and other causes.

AN HISTORICAL FACT.—Every agent who has been at eadily selling the Improved $20 Home stead Sewing Machine for three years, owns his dwelling house, has a good account in bank, is clear of debt, and has money at interest.—the natural consequence of securing a good agency for superior goods at the lowest prices. A good first-class Sewing Machine, most useful—reliable at all times, easy to understand and control, the same size and does the same work as any machine es that sell at four times the price. There is no machine at any price better, or that will do finer or more work, and certainly none so low in price by many dollars. The Homestead is widely known and used in thousands of families in the Eastern and Middle States, and daily becoming popular in the West. It will save its cost several times over in one season, doing the work of the family, or will earn four or five dollars a day for any man or woman who sews for a living. It is the strongest machine made, is ready at all times to do its work, makes the strongest and finest stitch yet invented, and is fully acknowledged as the Standard Family Sewing Machine. Price, complete for domestic use, $20, delivered at your door, no matter how remote you may reside. Business permanent and honorable, with more certain and rapid sales, and larger profits than any other. Extraordinary liberal offers made to local or traveling agents where we have none established; or, if there is no agent near you, send your order direct to the factory. VEGETINE

Strikes at the root of disease by purifying the blood, restoring the liver and kidneys to healthy action, invigorating the nervous system.

Vegetine

Is not a vile, nauseous compound, which simply purges the bowels, but a safe, pleasant remedy which is sure to purify the blood and thereby restore the health.

Vegetine

Is now prescribed in cases of Scrofula and other diseases of the blood, by many of the best physicians, owing to its great success in curing all diseases of this nature.

Vegetine

does not deceive invalids into false hopes by purging and creating a factitious appetite, but assists nature in clearing and purifying the whole system, leading the patient gradually to perfect health.

Vegetine

Was tested upon as an experiment for some time by some of our best physicians, but those most incredulous in regard to its merit are now its most ardent friends and supporters.

Vegetine

Instead of being a puffed up medicine has worked its way up to its present astonishing success by actual merit in curing all diseases of the blood, of whatever nature.

Vegetine

says a Boston physician, "has no equal as a blood purifier. Fearing of its many wonderful cures, after all other remedies had failed, I visited the laboratory and convinced myself of its genuine merit. It is prepared from barks, roots and herbs, each of which is highly effective, and they are compounded in such a manner as to produce astonishing results."

Vegetine

is acknowledged and recommended by physicians and apothecaries to be the best purifier and cleanser of the blood yet discovered, and thousands speak in its praise who have been restored to health.

WHAT IS NEEDED.

BOSTON, Feb. 13, 1871.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—About one year since I found myself in a feeble condition from general debility. VEGETINE was strongly recommended to me by a friend who had been much benefitted by its use. I procured the article and after using several bottles was restored to health and discontinued its use. I feel quite confident that there is no medicine superior to it for those complaints for which it is especially prepared and would cheerfully recommend it to those who feel that they need something to restore them to perfect health. Respectfully yours,

U. L. PETTENGILL,
Firm of S. M. Pettingill & Co., 10 State St., Boston.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 26, 1873.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear sir—The two bottles of VEGETINE furnished me by your agent my wife has used with great benefit. For a long time she has been troubled with dizziness and confusness; these troubles are now entirely removed by the use of VEGETINE. She was also troubled with Dyspepsia and General Debility; and has been greatly benefitted.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—Through the advice and earnest persuasion of Rev. E. S. Best, of this place, I have been taking VEGETINA for Dyspepsia, of which I was suffered for years. I have used only two bottles and already feel myself a new man. Respectfully,

DR. J. W. CARTER.

Report from a Practical Chemist and Apothecary.

BOSTON, Jan. 1, 1874.

DEAR SIR—This is to certify that I have sold at retail 15½ dozen (1852 bottles) of your VEGETINE since April 14, 187—, and can truly say that it has given the best satisfaction of any remedy for the complaints for which it is recommended, that I ever sold. Scarcely a day passes without some of my customers testifying to its merits on themselves or their friends. I am perfectly cognizant of several cases of Scrofulous Tumors being cured by VEGETINE alone in this vicinity. Very respectfully yours,

A. I. GILMAN, 468 Broadway.

Agricultural.

Poultry Manure.

Hen manure is much more valuable than people generally suppose it to be as a fertilizer. It contains phosphoric acid and nitrogen, with a trace of potash, in quantity to make it worth twenty-six cents per bushel, according to the wholesale commercial value of these fertilizers. But, when properly applied to crops, it proves itself to be worth from fifty to seventy cents per bushel in the increase of crops. In a case where a bushel of hen manure was applied to corn in the hill, it produced seventy pounds of sound corn in the ear over what the same number of hills adjoining produced, to which no fertilizer was applied. But this manure requires to be composted some months before it is used. I begin in May to compost all that has been gathered during the winter and spring, kept in barrels and well packed down, and covered so that none of its virtues will escape. I first spread a layer of soil then a layer of hen manure, and so on with alternate layers, about four times as much soil as manure to each layer. I make the heap flat on the top to catch rains, and cover all with coarse hay or straw. In the fall I have the heap shovelled over, mixing it thoroughly, cover again and leave it till the next spring, when it is in good condition to use on any crop. If hen manure be used before it has time to become incorporated with the soil with which it is mixed, it is apt to kill vegetation. For instance, if a bandful be put in a hill of corn, and mixed with the soil, and the corn be then planted, it would be liable to kill the corn when its roots came in close contact with it; but when laying a whole season in a compost heap every part of the heap becomes equally strong, and the original manure is not visible. Fowl houses should be so constructed that the manure can be easily gathered once in two weeks or oftener. If one has superphosphate, bone dust, or any other commercial fertilizer, to be used in the hills of crops, it is a good plan to mix such fertilizers with the compost heap of hen manure at the time of planting, adding more soil, then graduating the quantity used to a hill by its strength, a handful generally being the quantity used, when mixed with four times the bulk of fertilizers in soil.

Butter from Jersey Cows.

It is an established fact that Jersey cows will produce more butter from a given quantity of milk than any other breed of cows. The Alderney and Jersey cows in the United States may be said to be the same. A few years ago they were all, or nearly all, called Alderneys; but lately they are all called Jerseys, it being claimed that the stock in this country is more properly Jersey than Alderney. Both breeds came originally from two islands in the British Channel, and the two breeds are so nearly alike that they had better all go by one name. If a family need but one or two cows, the Jerseys are recommended for giving very rich milk. They do not give a large quantity, but about double the butter can be made per quart than from that of other breeds. A five year old cow lately made 320 lbs. of butter in 291 days; and although these cows give but six or eight quarts of milk per day, they average at least one pound of butter a day the year round, and the butter is much superior to that made from other cows' milk This breed of cows are dear, a yearling heifer being generally worth from $75 to $100 and the young cows from $125 to $150. They are not desirable generally as dairy cows, nor for any person who sells milk, it being too rich to sell for its value.

The Farmers' Friend.

The swallow, swift and nighthawk are the guardians of the atmosphere. They check the increase of insects that otherwise would overload it. Woodpeckers, creepers and chickadees are the guardians of the trunks of trees. Warblers and fly-catchers protect the foliage. Blackbirds, thrushes, crows and larks protect the surface of the soil, snipe and woodcock the soil under the surface. Each tribe has its respective duties to perform in the economy of nature; and it is an undoubted fact that, if the birds were all swept away from off the earth, man could not live upon it, vegetation would wither and die, insects would become so numerous that no living thing could withstand their attacks. The wholesale destruction occasioned by the grasshoppers, which have lately devastated the West, is undoubtedly caused by the thinning out of the birds, such as the grouse, priarie hens, ect., which feed upon them. This great and inestimable service done to the farmer, the gardener and florist by the birds is only becoming known by sad experience. Spare the birds and save your fruit; the little corn and fruit taken by them is more than compensated by the vast quantities of noxious insects destroyed. The long persecuted crow has been found, by actual experiment, to do far more good, by the vast quantity of grubs and insects it devours, than the little harm it does, in a few grains of corn it pulls up. The crow is one of the farmer's best friends.—Springfield Republican.

Destroying the Caterpillars.

Don't let the caterpillars live in your orchard. Their nests are an eyesore, and seriously injure the trees they infest. Just at the time when the tree needs its foliage to promote its health, growth and life, the worms come forth and generally strip it. Then nature tries to repair the injury by clothing it in a new dress; but time is required to accomplish this, and in the mean time the ordinary and natural process of storing up material to preserve its vigor, has been interfered with. It is an evidence of shiftlessness to permit this sort of thing to go on, and is inexcusable. The worms hybernate, and go through their transformations, coming forth perfect insects—images or butterflies—and each female laying hundred of eggs, and thus increasing enormously in numbers the following year

The nests of these caterpillars may be easily seen, and the whole of them destroyed. This is done by fixing a swab, dipped in gas tar and fastened on the end of a pole long enough to reach the nests. Gas tar is an effectual remedy. It kills every worm it touches. Be sure and touch every worm.

Autumn Plants.

P. Barry furnishes to the Rochester Rural Home a statement of some of his experiments in fall planting. Last fall, quite late, after the hurry of the season was over, he set out 500 dwarf pear trees. After they were set, the earth was drawn up and around the base about six or more inches, to protect the roots, and stiffen the trees against the wind. Towards the end of May the earth was leveled. Vigorous new roots were thrown out from the quince stock, and the trees are all growing rapidly. He thinks that for most years fall planting is best, To which we may add, that the harm likely to result from it generally arises from bad drainage, and from a neglect of the surface from winter settling. Give the trees a good, dry, rich bottom, and keep the surface mellow through spring and summer, and fall set trees will get a better start than those transplanted in spring.—Country Gentleman.

IMPORTANT TO ALL.

DR. SWAYNE,

The discoverer and compounder of the far-famed

Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry

and other valuable preparations, entered upon his professional career with the important advantage of a regular medical education in one of the oldest and best schools in Philadelphia, and, perhaps, in the world. He subsequently served a faithful term of practice in the Philadelphia Dispensary, and for many years attended in the Hospital. In these institutions he enjoyed the most ample opportunities of obtaining an insight into diseases in all their various forms, as well as for ascertaining the best methods of their treatment. In offering, therefore, to the people of the United States the fruits of his extensive professional experience in the medical compounds as the best results of its skill and observation, he feels that he is but proffering a boon to every family throughout the land, resting, as he does, confidently in the merits and efficacious virtue of the remedies he herewith commends. The vast amount of testimony from all parts of the world has proved "DOCTOR SWAYNE'S COMPOUND SYRUP OF WILD CHERRY" the most efficacious remedy known, and it is admitted by our most eminent physicians, and all who have witnessed its wonderful healing properties. The WILD CHERRY in all ages of the world and in all countries where it is known has been justly celebrated for its wonderful medicinal qualities, but its great power to cure some of the worst and most distressing diseases among us was never fully ascertained until the experiments of that skillful physician, Dr. Swayne, had demonstrated its high adaptation, in combination with Pine Tree Tar, and other equally valuable vegetable ingredients, which chemically combined renders its action tenfold more certain and beneficial in curing all diseases of the throat, breast and lungs. DR. SWAYNE'S WILD CHERRY COMPOUND strikes at the root of disease by purifying the blood, restoring the liver and kidneys to healthy action, invigorating the nervous and shattered constitution. If your druggist or storekeeper does not have it, do not be put off by any other remedy that may be offered, but send to us direct, and we will forward a half dozen to any address, freight paid, on receipt of the price, $1 per bottle, or $5 the half dozen. Address letters to DR. SWAYNE & SON, 330 North Sixth street, Philadelphia. No charge will be made for advice.

Ask Your Druggist for Them.

Females and all who value health should never be without DR. SWAYNE'S TAR AND SARSAPARILLA PILLS, as they purify the blood, remove all obstructions, cleanse the skin of all pimples and blotches, and bring the rich color of health to the pale cheek. Female irregularities are restored to a healthy condition. They are a certain cure for Sick and Nervous Headache. As a Dinner Pill, nothing can exceed them: take one, two, or three, as may be found necessary; unlike others, they neither gripe, produce nausea, or any other unpleasant sensation. While they are as powerful as it is possible for a medicine to be and be harmless. These Pills cleanse out the disordered humors, enrich and purify the blood, remove all unhealthy bilious secretions of the stomach and bowels, leading a perfectly healthy state of the liver, and are undoubtedly the best cathartic and antibilious medicine yet discovered; and we are determined that the sick shall have them at a price within the means of the poorest. 25 cents a box of 20 Pills.) If your druggist or storekeeper has not got them, do not be put off by any others that may be offered in their place, but send to us direct, and we will forward by mail, on receipt of the price, 25 cents a box or five boxes $1.

SKIN DISEASES.

Swayne's Ointment,

Is particularly adapted to all forms of skin diseases. Cures even when all other remedies and treatment fail.

SWAYNE'S OINTMENT

Seems to cure every case, leaving the skin smooth and clear without a blemish behind.

Itching Piles

is generally preceded by a moisture, like perspiration, distressing itching, as though pin worms were crawling in or about the rectum, particularly at night when undressing, or in bed after getting warm. It appears in summer as well as win er, oftentimes shows itself around the pri ate parts, and is not confined to males only, but is quite as frequent that females are sore y afflicted, particularly in times of pregnancy, extending into the vagina, proving distressing and intolerable beyond the powers of endurance. Cases of long standing, pronounced incurable, have been permanently cured by simply applying

CALIFORNIA

THE CHICAGO & NORTH-WESTERN RAILWAY

Embraces under one management the Great Trunk Railway Lines of the WEST and NORTH-WEST, and, with its numerous branches and connections, forms the shortest and quickest route between Chicago and all points in ILLINOIS, WISCONSIN, NORTHERN MICHIGAN, MINNESOTA, IOWA, NEBRASKA, California and the Western Territories. Its

Omaha and California Line

Is the shortest and best route for all points in northern Illinois, Iowa, Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Nevada, Utah, California, Oregon, China, Japan and Australia. Its

Chicago, Madison & St. Paul Line

Is the short line for Northern Wisconsin and Minnesota, and for Madison, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, and all points in the great North-west. Its

Winona and St. Peter Line

Is the only route for Winona, Rochester, Owatonna, Mankato, St. Peter, New Ulm, and all points in southern and central Minnesota. Its

Green Bay and Marquette Line

Is the only line for Janesville, Watertown, Fond Du Lac Oshkosh, Appleton, Green Bay, Escanaba, Negaunee, Marquette, Houghton, Hancock and the Lake Superior country. Its

Freeport and Dubuque Line

Is the only route for Elgin, Rockford, Freeport, and all points via Freeport. Its

Chicago and Milwaukee Line

Is the old Lake Shore Route, and is the only one passing through Evanston, Lake Forest, Highland Park, Waukegan, Racine, Kenosha to Milwaukee.

Pullman Palace Cars

are run on all through trains of this road.

This is the ONLY LINE running these cars between Chicago and St. Paul, Chicago and Milwaukee, or Chicago and Winona.

At Omaha our sleepers connect with the overland sleepers on the Union Pacific Railroad for all points west of the Missouri river.

On the arrival of the trains from the east or south, the trains of the Chicago & North-Western Railway leave Chicago as follows:

FOR COUNCIL BLUFFS, OMAHA AND CALIFORNIA, Two through trains daily, with Pullman palace drawing room and sleeping cars through to Council Bluffs.

FOR ST. PAUL AND MINNEAPOLIS, two through trains daily, with Pullman palace cars attached to both trains.

FOR GREEN BAY AND LAKE SUPERIOR, two trains daily, with Pullman palace cars attached, and running through to Marquette.

FOR MILWAUKEE, four through trains daily, Pullman cars on night trains, parlor chair cars on day trains.

FOR SPARTA AND WINONA and points in Minn
